

Retrograde

Paying homage to celebrated classics continues to be a driving force on the runways, particularly when it comes to eyewear. Vintage shapes travel back to the '50s, '60s and '70s, channeling retro-chic aviators, rounds, cat-eyes and Clubmaster-inspired profiles. A refined selection of mottled tortoise, red-wine marsala, buttery neutrals and mineral blues keeps these glasses and shades grounded. Meanwhile, subtle detailing – like mixed materials, inlay accents, ombré finishes and decorative bridges – reveals an avant-garde style that's permeating the "old is new" sentiment. The options are plentiful for old souls looking to rejuvenate their eyewear wardrobes.
